

Short-Film Festival

What story would you like to tell? Full Circle Studios invited you to tell it to the world.

Here's ten filmmakers who accepted the challenge!

Sponsors

Congratulations to all of the filmmakers who entered the festival! Great work. Just getting a project completed is a testament to your dedication and perseverance. Now, the real process starts. The judges will be meeting soon and discussing your work. They will be writing down their comments so you can get feedback on your work. This is the most important thing you'll receive, but there are also some prizes to be handed out and, of course, public recognition for your work.

The official screening will need to be moved from Elmwood, unfortunately, due to construction at the originally selected sites. We are talking with the Market Arcade Film & Arts Centre about hosting the event. We'll keep you posted!

2005 "Elmwood Stories" Official Entries

"like I was saying"

written & produced by Luanne Dibernardo

"Unforgotten"

produced by Michael Wieckowski

"Elm Shoots: To live, to laugh, to love, to learn"

produced by James Rivard

"CRUSH: An Elmwood Story"

produced by Tim Collins & Robert Bekalarski

"Just Passing"

produced by Gordon Pellegrinetti

"Spelled Backwards"

produced by Luanne Dibernardo

"D-13"

produced by Matthew Wargala

"Familiar Stranger"

produced by David Narciano

"Happy Birthday"

produced by Carol Alaimo

"Court Justice"

produced by D.K. Smith